5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A CPU (50) generates a real recording address y from y = n(x-m) + m, where absolute time x is obtained from an ATIP decoder (48). Recording density scale factor is denoted by n and recording start address is denoted by m. Using the real recording address y, an encoder (40) performs encoding and data recording is performed.